

Licensed Professional Counselor Intern Job Opportunity

Job Opportunity: FuelEd, a non-profit organization dedicated to improving student outcomes by developing social and emotional competencies in teachers and school leaders, is currently seeking counselor interns to work with educators in group therapy, and individual counseling settings.

We are seeking counselor interns to help us serve teachers in the Houston area. Primary responsibilities include conducting individual counseling, facilitating process groups, maintaining case notes, and managing scheduling.

Primary responsibilities include but are not limited to providing individual and group counseling sessions, maintaining case notes, and managing a caseload including all administrative responsibilities (i.e. scheduling, phone calls, emails, promoting and presenting counseling process to groups of teachers and school administrators, and other case management tasks). FuelEd interns receive free individual and group supervision, and additional training.

Qualifications:

- Licensed Professional Counselor Intern (licensed by May 2016)
- Theoretical and practical understanding of person-centered therapy
- Organized self-starter; able to work in an environment with flexible hours and limited day-to-day supervision
- Ability and motivation to manage administrative tasks related to managing a counseling caseload
- Experience working in schools is a plus
- Experience with process groups is a plus
- Passion for the cause

About FuelEd: FuelEd is a non-profit organization dedicated to improving student and school outcomes by equipping educators with the interpersonal skills, self-awareness, and emotional well-being necessary to build strong relationships in schools. FuelEd's professional development workshops combine concepts from developmental psychology, social neuroscience, and education. These workshops in conjunction with our clinical program which provides individual counseling helps to develop teachers and school leaders socially and emotionally. Ultimately, we aim to serve as the "missing piece" in educator preparation - ensuring that all educators have the tools necessary to promote not just academic mastery, but positive human development in all students.
